Flowers don't just inspire gardeners and florists, but chefs and mixologists too. As Chelsea Flower Show (<https://www.countryandtownhouse.com/culture/guide-chelsea-flower-show/>) kicks off soon (20 – 24 May 2025), we round up the best places in London for a floral feast – think botanical-inspired cocktails and summertime dishes. Many Chelsea restaurants get involved with Chelsea in Bloom (<https://www.countryandtownhouse.com/culture/chelsea-in-bloom/>), too, by creating special floristry installations to tie in with this year's theme, which is 'Flowers in Fashion'. Read on to find out where to eat during Chelsea Flower Show 2025.

Best Restaurants To Visit During Chelsea Flower Show 2025

Wildflowers

The clue's in the name: new Belgravia restaurant Wildflowers is the perfect spot for a post flower show-meal. Located just a five-minute walk from Royal Hospital Chelsea, it serves Mediterranean fare inspired by the relaxed dining cultures of Spain, France and Italy. Inside is beautifully designed, featuring vintage furniture and freshly cut

The Surprise

With its peach walls, grand fireplaces and chintzy wallpaper, The Surprise (<https://www.countryandtownhouse.com/food-and-drink/reviews/restaurant-review-the-surprise-chelsea/>) is now a strong contender for the most chic pub in Chelsea. Visit to soak up its lively atmosphere and enjoy a beer or glass of vino from the extensive wine list – or stay for a meal, with an array of elevated pub classics on offer alongside small plates and bar snacks.
